

Toronto, June 7, 2023 - We are pleased to announce that Shift Health has been named one of HRD Canada's Best Places to Work 2023.

Winners of this award prioritize employee needs, equip employees with tools and resources for success and foster a positive culture of shared purpose.

"This recognition validates that we are doing something right, and we could not have gotten it right without listening to the team. I thank the entire Shift Health team for infusing IDEA (inclusion, diversity, equity and accessibility) in everything that we do, for keeping us accountable to the values we hold, and for reminding us, as leaders, of our responsibilities" – Dr. Ryan Wiley, President of Shift Health.

About Shift Health

Shift Health brings a science mindset to strategy consulting for the health research and innovation ecosystem. Working with governments, academia, industry, not-for-profits, healthcare providers and patient partners across Canada and around the world, Shift Health is helping to create the future of healthcare.

Scientists by training, our team embodies a science mindset in what we do and who we are. Our mission, culture and decisions are guided by five core values:

- Passion. We are personally and professionally motivated by the aspiration to advance human health and wellbeing, and we are sensitive to the greater social implications of our work and that of our clients and partners.
- Substance. We are knowledge leaders, driven to ask the right questions, gather the evidence and apply the analytical rigour that will bring us ever closer to a true understanding of client, cause and context.

- Courage. We are intrepid trailblazers, driven by the conviction to challenge the status quo and push our clients, our partners and ourselves to test ideas, take intelligent risks and advance innovation with the potential to achieve impact.
- Agility. We are intellectually nimble professionals, bringing the cross-sector experience, entrepreneurial ethos and boundless curiosity needed to understand complex challenges and deliver transformative solutions.
- Collaboration. We are committed to working together, recognizing that the integration of diverse knowledge, skills and perspectives within our team and across our networks is essential to our professional growth and corporate success.

We are deeply committed to embedding inclusion, diversity, equity and accessibility in our work environment and to working with our clients, partners and communities in building a health research and innovation ecosystem rooted in the principles of justice, equality and reconciliation.
